Honorable William J. Casey
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D. C.

Dear Bill:

Since your letter arrived, I have been wrestling with my schedule, but find it is absolutely impossible for the Fall because of multiple commitments which have left me with minimal freedom of action during this period. I keep hoping things will get better, but they seem to get worse.

If in the new year things let up a bit, I would enjoy being with you and your colleagues and regret that I am so overcommitted for the Fall this year.

Many thanks for your thoughtful invitation.

I would be very pleased if you could be our guest speaker here at CIA Headquarters. I suggest 10 October but would be happy to accommodate your schedule if that date is not convenient. Our program normally consists of a lecture of approximately 30 to 40 minutes, followed by a 20 to 30 minute question period. Lectures are usually scheduled from 2:00-3:15 p.m. Your thoughts about the future of America's education, civil rights, or any related topic of your choice, would be of keen interest to our audience.

I hope you are able to accept this invitation. [redacted] our Dean of Conferences, will be pleased to discuss any aspect of the arrangements with your staff. She can be reached on [redacted].
